Symposium on aging held on Tuesday

"Aging: It's Not What It Used to Be!" is the theme for a symposium to be held at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the Hendrix Student Center at Clemson University. The cost is $20, which includes lunch.

The program will feature presentations from national experts on issues related to helping older adults stay engaged in community life as long as possible. It will also give an opportunity for community organizations and Clemson personnel to create partnerships.

The symposium is for anyone who works with older adults, agencies or anyone who has an interest in aging issues.

There will be break-out sessions with the presenters before the event wraps up at 4 p.m.

Registration is limited to the first 150 participants. For more information, visit the Web site at www.hehd.clemson.edu/GRIT/home.html or contact Amy Merck at (864) 656-0110.
